

Needs Led Offer

Pre-school Complex Communication and Autism

What is a needs-led approach?

A needs-led approach prioritises access to care tailored to your child's specific needs, rather than applying a standard, 'one-size-fits-all' model of support. We support you to understand your child's strengths and differences.

Communication: Your child may communicate differently. This can sometimes lead to frustration and be a barrier to successful communication.

Interaction: Your child may experience the world and interact in different ways. Their attempts at interaction can often be misunderstood.

Sensory processing: Your child may process information from their senses in different ways. When this impacts on other areas of life it can be challenging to deal with.

If your child is referred to ICAN for suspected Autism you will receive a letter with information on how to access these services.
